2012 Safety Management/Leadership Course

Bring the best practices in safety to the paper and packaging industry at the safety management level.

In this course, a special focus will be placed on leadership training, including incorporating a safe environment into workforce training and work expectations.

August 15-16 2012

TAPPI HQ
Norcross, GA USA

Topics covered in this course:

- Safety Fundamentals / Modern Safety Management Principles
- OSHA Recordkeeping and Medical Management
- Incident Investigation
- Safe Behavior and Choices
- Safety Culture
- Measuring Safety Performance
- Hazard Recognition
- Safety Walkthroughs, Observations and Messaging
- Managing Change Safely
- Safety Organization
- Effective Safety Communication
- Putting It ALL Together at the end – So now what do I do?

This course is designed for anyone that takes on a leadership role in safety including:

- Human Resources
- Training
- Safety Supervisors
- Team Leaders
- Plant Managers
- Project Leaders
- Frontline Supervisors
- Safety Commitee Participants

Course Faculty

Matthew Kanneberg is the Division Safety Manager for RockTenn's Containerboard Mills and a member of the Board of Directors for the Pulp & Paper Safety Association (PPSA). He has had a 20 year career in the pulp and paper industry. He has been in occupational safety and security management positions for public, construction and general industry locations. He has a BA in Business Management, former Emergency Medical Technician and Fire Fighter, and numerous safety related certifications.

Learn more at www.tappi.org/12safemgt

TAPPI & PPSA members save on course registration

Join TAPPI at www.tappi.org/Membership

Join PPSA at http://www.ppsa.org/membership_information.html