

Larry Anker is the Director of Commercial Operations at Solenis. He has worked in the paper industry for over 30 years. He is currently responsible for coordinating the P&P technical training initiatives and managing the intern and STAR (new hire rotation) program. Anker holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry, mathematics and physics from Washington and Lee University and a doctorate in chemistry from Penn State University. Anker received a Fulbright Fellowship in 1986 and was named a TAPPI Fellow in 2013. He is a current member of the TAPPI Board of Directors as well as an instructor for the annual TAPPI Introduction to Wet End Chemistry course. He is the past chair of the Additives Committee and the Paper and Board Division of TAPPI.