

Pam comes from a long line of contributors to the pulp & paper industry. Like her grandfather, father and brother before her, her entrepreneurial spirit is currently applied to the commercialization of Pulmac's disruptive technology that will help bring the industry into the digital era. As part of the plan, she is very active in TAPPI and is the founding chairperson of the Women in Industry Division.